L'Arche Perth - Update

165, Alexander Drive, Dianella

Heart of L'Arche Gathering

We look forward to seeing many of you at our first Gathering for the year on Sunday 11 Feb from 12-4pm.

Much planning has gone into making this day a success and we would ask you to RSVP your attendance ASAP to chrisking@iinet.net.au or by text on 0403 804 620. This will enable us to make up groups before the event. We are very keen for core members to contribute as they are at the heart of our community.

Please bring savoury or sweet finger food so there will be food available throughout the afternoon rather than a sitdown lunch as previously indicated.

Volunteers' Lunch

Last month we invited some of our volunteers to the Dianella house to enjoy a delicious lunch by way of a thank you for all their hard work last year. Justina did us proud with many of her Chinese/Malay specialities and board members Chris and Anabelle added salads and desserts.

We are grateful for volunteers' generous donations of furniture and fittings for our house, their contribution to our sausage sizzles, WalkAbility and Heart2Heart. Three members of the band Sweet Jarrah who played at our Christmas party provided some male company.

They enjoyed a tour of the house and garden and a short presentation about the history of our group which underlined how much we appreciate their contribution.

Planning

The Heart of L'Arche gathering is the first step in the planning we need to do to become NDIA ready and ensure a sustainable future for L'Arche in Perth.

We have been fortunate to secure the services of Nicola Weinman to assist us with managing the complexities of the NDIA; she will also guide us in developing a road map to get us from where we are to where we need to be, both in regards to our house and the growth of our community. Nicola was formerly with AVIVO as a Service Development Consultant reviewing their shared living arrangements, developing policies and procedures and risk management strategies and a pricing and quoting system in the NDIA context.

Walkability

Once again we're using the Everyday Hero site to collect money for WalkAbility on Sunday 8 April

Here is the link to register to take part (Click on the join team button)

New Fundraising Idea

Justina Voon is always looking for ways to raise money for L'Arche in Perth. Hundreds of dollars have been raised from the sellout of our greeting cards featuring the artistic talents of our core members. Her latest venture is the sale of potted succulents that she creates from her amazing garden. She has been selling them to local businesses and shops and they make wonderful 'living gifts'. Please get behind this great initiative.

JANUARY 2018

A letter from Jean

Since November 10, I have been back in my little house next to La Ferme, by the L'Arche community chapel in Trosly. I admit that I am happy, my life is quiet and physically I am well, despite great tiredness. As my heart remains weak, I am waiting for it to grow stronger. Odile Ceyrac and Christine McGrievy, the leader of my L'Arche community in Trosly, have been very supportive of me and they continue to watch over me during this period of recovery which has been extended until the end of February.

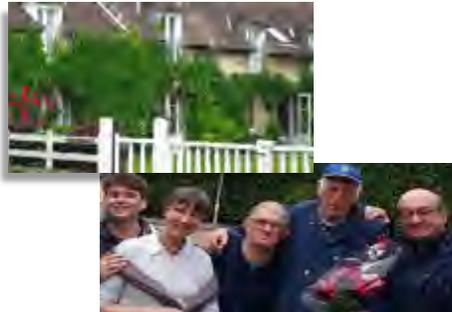

I spend my mornings in my room on the first floor resting, praying and reading. I derive a lot of joy in contemplating the birds through my window. A big crow often takes up position at the top of the tree not far from the house. He watches everything with a very preoccupied air. He is like a gang leader! Some other smaller birds swirl to the right and left at top speed. And some tiny little birds also sit in the tree. They are called kinglets and they are magnificent. There are also some chickadees and then flocks of sparrows that seem to travel in groups of twelve. Still others come and go, like these little turtledoves. Just imagine that yesterday I even saw two birds that seemed to be wearing a red hat. They looked like clowns. I do not know what they were doing but most of the time they looked so funny. And in early January in Trosly, daisies are beginning to appear in my little garden! Is this a sign that spring is on the way?

I derive a lot of joy

the birds

I have had to cancel all the retreats and conferences that I was due to give at La Ferme and elsewhere. Antony Paoli, the leader of La Ferme, who has also given me a lot of support, has kept up the retreats at La Ferme by calling upon some wonderful people to replace me. The grace of L'Arche and the Gospel continues to be announced and I am very happy about that.

In October, when I was still in the hospital, I felt that a new stage of my life was beginning, a life more given to prayer, silence, reading, solitude and a few meetings. I thought this would be a good ending after a very busy life with L'Arche and Faith and Light. Now I have the impression that it is not an end but a beginning. A beginning of what? Only God knows, and God is full of surprises! So I wait for something new. Each day is a new day to know God better, to love Jesus better and to work for the Kingdom of God and for peace in our poor world.

To love Jesus better and to work for the Kingdom of God and for peace

I discover that I do not know how to pray, but I have always been told that wanting to pray is already a prayer and I very much desire it. I want to know Jesus better. One day, I asked a contemplative sister how she prayed. She said, "I wait for Jesus!"

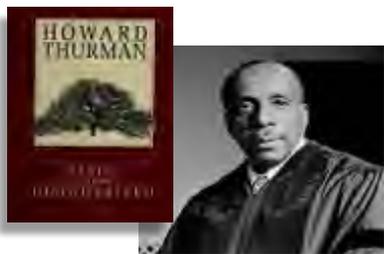

So, I wait with a lot of desire, hope and patience; I would like to know him better and be more united to his heart that loves each person. To learn to love as God loves each person in our great human family around the world, each with their wounds, their culture, their suffering, their religion, their expectations, their hopes, their weariness.

In the meantime, I am reading two books: Jesus: An Historical Approximation written by José Antonio Pagola and Jesus and the Disinherited by Howard Thurman (in English only).

The first is a theologian and historian of very great breadth, who is very knowledgeable about Israel in the time of Jesus. How did Jesus announce good news to the Galileans when they were being horribly persecuted by the Romans, tyrannized by Herod, battered by the Temple leaders, and abused by rich people who forced them to pay ever greater taxes? Jesus went to these poor people and said to them, "The Kingdom of God is with you!" He transformed them by revealing to them that they were loved by God and that happiness comes from loving each person with tenderness and compassion.

Happiness comes from loving each person with tenderness and compassion.

The second author, Howard Thurman, is a black American pastor, the grandson of a slave. He speaks of his crushed and suffering people. How could they understand and know the religion of the whites who were persecuting them?

So I think of those slaves crushed over and over again and those Galileans to whom Jesus spoke, a world of suffering.

Today there are so many people in pain who are asking themselves: where is God? My prayer goes out to all those people overwhelmed by suffering in a world where there are so many immigrants, refugees, people engulfed in loneliness, or in prison. For all these people, I offer this new stage of my own - rather comfortable - life. May the kingdom of God come! This kingdom of love where each person discovers they are God's beloved, and called to love others.

My prayer goes out to all those people overwhelmed by suffering

At the beginning of the year, we had the pleasure of receiving a visit from Nayla Tabbara who founded Adyan with Father Fadi Daou. Adyan is a centre in Beirut that helps Muslims to know the Christian faith and Christians to know Islam. She came to La Ferme to give us a talk on unity. It was a very beautiful conference. She is a Sunni Muslim, with a huge desire to help Christians and Muslims to know each other better and to discover the value of each one.

I often think of her and all those Muslims and Christians who are working for unity and mutual understanding. There are so many people creating division but fortunately there are others who want to work for dialogue and true encounter.

I had the joy of spending a delightful Christmas dinner with my foyer, le Val Fleuri, where by tradition each year, I set light to the Christmas pudding - which is not always very appreciated in France.

I would like to sing a very big thank you to each and every one of you, my brothers and sisters from our L'Arche and Faith and Light communities and so many other friends who have sent me your Christmas wishes for good health, and for a new year holy and happy. Thank you, thank you: alas, I cannot answer each one as I would like, but know that each card or letter received is immediately transformed into a moment of communion, friendship and prayer. Yes, thank you to God for our great family around the world which he has raised up and given us.

*For this new year,
may the God of peace bless us,
and help each one of us
to become an artisan and messenger of peace.*

*I hold you in my heart
and prayer,
Jean*
